REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT

Office of Superintendent of Schools

Bloomfield, N. J.

June 30, 1941.

To the Board of Education,

Bloomfield, N. J.

My thirteenth annual report covering the public schools of Bloomfield, New Jersey, for the school year 1940-1941 is hereby presented.

The great uncertainty of World events has manifested itself in our school work to a more or less degree, both teachers and pupils have become conscious of the demands being made from all sides. The schools participated, with marked success, in a number of drives for funds and materials to assist in our National Defense program.

The following enlisted for military training: Edward Urband and Neal Takala from the teaching staff, Frank H. Jelinek from the office at the Junior High School, and Allen Caridad, Robert Halliday and Thomas Ferrara, seniors in the High School. Others will answer the call in due time.

Since learning can result only from activities, the teachers will have to be fully aware of the skills necessary for successful performance of the activity participated in by the pupils. In our school work there are two kinds of such activities, the physical and the intellectual. These are dependent on each other. Physical activity has to do with bodily movements, thus our program of physical education is considered of prime importance and we are planning to extend same. Many more pupils are now taking a more active part in the various athletics sponsored by our schools.

Intellectual activity is the effort made by pupils in acquiring knowledge, in solving problems and giving expression to creative activities. Here is where our Guidance program begins to function. This department directs and guides the activities of the pupils so that the realization of progress is made in the direction indicated by the aims of education.

During the year we have met the State requirement by X-raying all pupils in the IX, X, XI and XII grades, a total of 2,227 pupils. It was gratifying to note that the final report indicated that only 10 pupils needed further checking, though it was emphasized that even these cases were not tuberculosis suspects. Further examination was suggested in order that a detailed study may be made of the further pulmonary markings in a life size image.

In planning to improve our educational program the Board of Education appointed Mr. Henry T. Hollingsworth, principal of the Junior High School, assistant superintendent of schools and Mr. Jerome C. Salsbury, principal of the Berkeley Elementary School, as supervisor of secondary education. Mr. Felix J. McCormick, an instructor in the High School, was appointed principal of the Berkeley Elementary School and will begin his duties in September, 1941.

With the opening of the new Junior High School last September all of our elementary schools with the exception of Brookside, Brookdale and Demarest have been organized with classes from the kindergarten through the sixth grade, the three schools named as exceptions continue through the seventh grade. Due to this change in the elementary school organization all of our National Music Week programs were presented in the respective schools. The splendid attendance and interest manifested on the part of parents indicate that these programs were well received and much appreciated.

We announce with deep regret the death of Mr. Albert Campen, head janitor in the Senior High School, who served the school system over a long period of time.

A slight decrease in the enrollment over previous years has occurred during the year as indicated by a total of 7,291 pupils on roll.

We are mindful of the splendid services rendered by our Board of Education.

Respectfully submitted,

EDGAR S. STOVER, Superintendent.

SCHOOL SAVING FUND

The report as submitted by The Bloomfield Savings Institution covering the savings effected during the school year is indeed encouraging. Even with the many demands made upon the children for the various drives carried on during the school year the school savings show a decided gain over previous years.

Much credit is due the Savings Institution for their very helpful cooperation.
